No Man Lands

a new teacher's perspective on young people learning in a conventionally binary
system

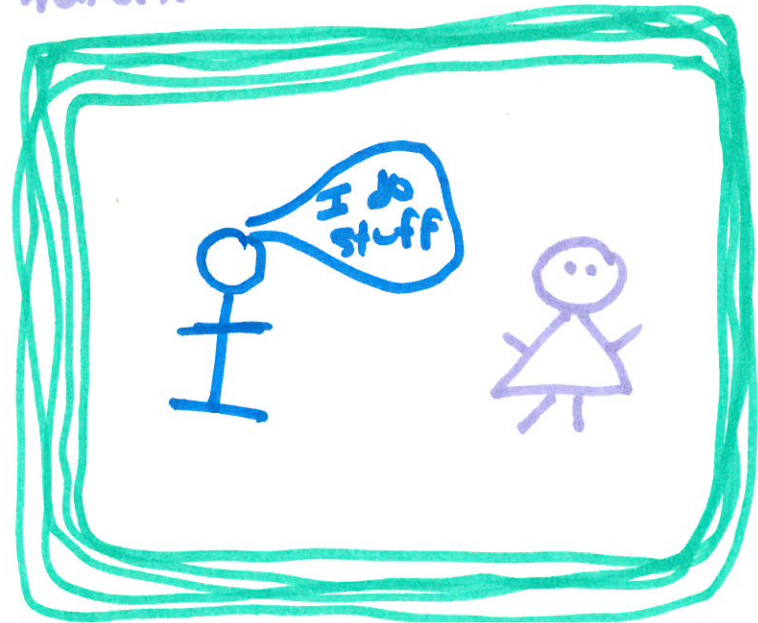

Here are a few ideas / things I wish they'd told me in school :

1. Girls & Boys are NOT the only types of people, nor are they the only types of gender
2. You are allowed to be you & you are allowed to change and experiment with who you are & how you want to be addressed.

I think that, as teachers (4 caring humans) we need to address concepts & issues w/ our young people that pertain to them. Running away from not so lovely truths will not help us to create safe and inclusive spaces, nor will sheltering young people fr. things they already live protect them.

When I was in school,
Most of what we learned about gender was MEN
do things and Women
watch.

Open Your Mind &
End Queer
Fear.
